Cynthia Biedermann
Associate Governmental Program Analyst

Cynthia joined the commission staff in April 2009. Her primary responsibilities include the development and coordination of education and outreach for the commission, and she serves as the fund administrator for the Building Standards Administration Special Revolving Fund. Often referred to as SB 1473, the fund consists of building permit fees that are collected by local jurisdictions (cities and counties) statewide and submitted to the CBSC for code related training, education and outreach.

Prior to joining the commission, Cynthia was an analyst with the Office of Administrative Hearings (OAH) from 2005-2009. During her tenure with OAH, she was a buyer and contract analyst as well as project coordinator for six office renovation assignments and staff relocations throughout California.

Cynthia spent twenty-five years in the private sector before joining state service. Her extensive corporate experience in project management and policy execution has equipped her with a depth of operational knowledge that proves to be a valued asset to the commission.

A native Californian born in Fresno and raised in the Sacramento area, Cynthia holds a Bachelor of Science degree in Professional Studies from Tennessee State University, Nashville. She is an animal enthusiast, and enjoys movies, travel (in any way, shape or form), and spending quality time with family and friends when she is not working.
